ROAD PROJECT LISTED FOR APPOMATTOX CO.

The State Highway Department announced this week that bids had been called for 48 road projects, the largest number ever included in one advertisement in the department's history.

Included in the list war the following for Appomattox County:

Routes 611, 667, 605—5.95 miles of grading, stabilizing and hard surfacing from Herndon's Store to Beckham.

A spokesman for the road agency said the record number of jobs is the result of efforts to put under way early in the construction season a backlog of work for which plans or right of way have been pending, or for which previous bids have been rejected by the Highway Commission. The bids will be opened at 10 A. M. on June 20.

The projects include more than 11 miles of divided highway and six bridges to close a gap on US 301 between Emporia and Petersburg, a 1,050-foot "fixed span" bridge to replace the old draw span over Urbanna Creek on Route 227 at Urbanna, a four-lane divided overpass of the A. C. L. Railroad on US 360 west of Richmond, paving a relocation of Route 64 at Dante in Russell County, and straightening and widening on US 360 east and west of Millers Tavern in Essex and King and Queen Counties.

To the West

Lesson for June 3, 1956

IN PAUL'S vision at Troas, his night visitor did not say, "Come to Europe and help us." He said "Macedonia." In fact, Europe does not occur in the vision at all. Paul and his companions were not conscious of entering one continent to another when they crossed the Aegean. Macedonia was another province. It was a new country. The church was moving west. Paul's vision was a permanent one. It was certainly a turning point in the history of the little church that took the gospel to Europe. Christianity was the first religion to cross continents. Small groups of Christians were found in every country in Europe, then into the Americas. Then in North America, as the church moved inland, westward and ever westward, as the frontier moved across the land the church moved with it. Sometimes the church itself did the pioneering, as when a church did in California or the Protestants in Oregon.

Dr. Foreman

Moving and Changing

Peoples and people often change when transplanted to a different soil and climate. So it is with the church. The church at Corinth was different from the church in Jerusalem, and the church at Corinth was still different by the time the church reached Rome and settled there. Vast changes could be seen. The church in Northern Britain were not just those of southern Italy. The church came to America, there were further changes. Today a Presbyterian church in this country will be in many ways unlike the church of the same in Scotland. English churches and American Methodists can easily be told apart. A crowded English Baptist who is now serving in the largest American Baptist denomination would feel in public how hard it was for him to feel at home there. Even in the Roman Catholic Church priests who have been in other lands all their lives find some customs of European Catholicism rather strange, and vice versa. In America, too, as the church moved west it changed its

Always the Same

The more it changes, the more it stays the same," is a French proverb, which might well describe the church of God. It is quite true, the church has gone through many changes as it has moved westward with the years, but at heart, when it has had a heart, it has always been the same. (We say "When it has had a heart," because some churches have lost heart, or lost their heart, grown cold and died.) It would be quite a shock for a member of any American church east or west to walk into a meeting of the church at Corinth in St. Paul's time. It would be just as puzzling for a Corinthian to enter any American or great cathedral in New York or a country church forty miles from anywhere; neither one would be like his Corinthian meeting. But the heart of the church is the same. In Corinth, Kansas City or the Kentucky hills, wherever people are gathered together in love for the Lord Jesus, who died as Son of God and rose from the dead as their Saviour, wherever those who love Christ are called to serve mankind in His name, there is the Christian church. Worship and sit work. Methods and forms differ, but the spirit of Christ is always the same.

Frontiers of the Future

When the church reached the Western edge of the Pacific Ocean, did it come to the last frontier? Is there anywhere else to go? Of course there is. Beyond the Pacific are two vast continents. The Christian church has been so busy moving westward that it has all but forgotten the "East"—which now is literally our Far West. Asia, Africa and the islands of the seas are our Christian frontiers, the frontiers of the future, and the church is (if yet only dimly) aware of them. The churches facing these frontiers will be different from the churches "back home" as ours are different from those of Corinth and Jerusalem. But the church will be there; for wherever there are true churches, there Christ lives and works again.

Homemakers Items

(Cut Flowers

Want your cut flowers to keep fresh longer?

Here are some suggestions from VPI specialists.

Cut with a sharp knife in late afternoon. Be sure the container in which you put the flowers is clean. Copper containers work well as they keep down bacteria, which clogs stems of flowers and cuts down on water absorption.

When cutting the stems, make a slanting cut as the flowers take up water through the cut ends of the stems. Do not allow leaves to stay in the water. They soon decay and foul the water. Keep cut flowers out of drafts and as cool as possible, especially when first cut.

Water for the Machine

One point to check when thinking of buying a washing machine is how much water it requires.

VPI specilists say is water is scarce, expensive or hard to pump, or if heating water is inconvenient or expensive, then the amount of water needed will be important.

Washing machines vary in water use from 6 to 20 gallons for one filling. Laboratory tests show no definite relationship between effectiveness of the washing and the amount of water used.

See your dealer and find out which type, non-automatic, semi-automatic, or automatic, is the best suited for your needs.

Vacation Planning

Looking for peace of mind on your vacation? Make a list of the things you want to check. Then you'll know if you locked all the windows, unplugged electrical appliances, asked the paper boy and the milkman to stop deliveries, left your vacation address with a neighbor, and notified the police that you will be away.
